Mental state of a village teenage girl

Curriculum Integration Theme:

In every semester ULAB Media Studies and Journalism Department organizes CI to focus on new ideas which can help to gather information regarding that idea can learn apart from classroom and effort on their creative ideas. In current semester (Summer 2020), the theme was “Psychology of Pandemic”. CI theme also help us to show our creativity through our mask. We are in a situation where we are suffering also psychological issue. Through my mask presentation I wanted to show the current mental state of a village teenage girl in this pandemic.

My Message:

In my mask I want to deliver a message that how a village girl face this pandemic. In this covid-19 pandemic we saw a different look in urban and rural area. We find a different look in urban and rural area during this pandemic. Village people have no fear about this virus. They believes in rumors like “village people have no risk about corona “or if they drink cow urine or black tea then the virus will not infect them. They not even wearing mask when they go outside and not maintain social distance with others. A girl in village she spend her time normally like cooking fishing or gossiping with others. Besides they also face some problem which impact on them psychologically. According to World Health Organization they told everyone to maintain social distance, to sanitize your hand before cooking or other things but in village people did not follow this. Most of the village people work in urban area. During this pandemic many people lost their job. For this reason they are suffering from financial problem. It's also impact a girl of village that how her family is now face this situation. Besides. They also face family violence with their family members. In this pandemic all school, collage, university are continue their classes in online method. For less device and internet problem they can't continue their classes properly. In my mask I want to convey the situation of village people that they are not serious about this corona virus but at the same time they also suffer psychological issue in this pandemic.

Layout:

I planned to make my mask into two colors. Where one side convey that they have no fear about this virus and the other side they are suffering from stress or pressure or psychological issue during this pandemic. I also put a surgical mask which is not perfectly situated in the face that convey that they don't need to wear a mask. I use some text in my mask that convey about the problem they face during this pandemic. In background I draw some picture which portray that how they pass their time freely without any social distance or without sanitize their hand before cooking.

Painting and Installation:

The mask was painted using acrylic colors white, yellow, red and black. For the background I paint three different pictures and also gave some message that tells the problem people face in this pandemic. In the mask I put a surgical mask on the down side of the face to portray about the message easily. I tried to draw the pictures perfectly to express the message of the image which is quite difficult to me. But lastly I am happy enough that I finished my work exactly the way I thought. This project also helped me to gain new experience and also express my creativity by this mask.

Realization:

At the end, I realized that I was able to express my message to those people who did not care about this pandemic via the project. It was also an enjoyable journey to learn something new. I also learn how to do something new without any help of others with my creativity. In future, if I will do this mask making I will try to plan more creative and add more message and creativity in my mask. Lastly, I am happy that I can learn some new things by this project which may help me in future.

Conclusion:

In every semester ci exhibition is presented in university. But in this semester we are not able to do this this exhibition physically but we show our mask presentation in online method which also a new experience for me. Overall it was a new journey for me to learn something new things by this project.
